The Young Men of the New York Press

The New York Independent of June 7th has an interesting article on this subject.

"It is a striking fact, the number of young men prominently connected with the New York press as writers, is greater now than at any other former period. Although the chief editorial work of several of the leading metropolitan journals are veterans, yet the chief editorial work of these journals is done by men between the years of twenty five and forty. William Cullen Bryant, Horace Greeley is like a father among sons in the Tribune office. It is true Sidney Howard Gray, lately managing editor of that journal, is on the shady side of life yet he has just gone off to the White Mountains in search of the last sunshine, leaving John Russell Young to be his brilliant successor. George Ripley, the ripe literary critic, is now dwelling East in Europe, leaving his pen to Harriet. George W. Smalley, who a few years ago was rowing boat races for the glory of Yale College, and who first made his literary reputation by his masterly report from the Tribune of the battle of Antietam is already one of the ablest writers, as he is one of the noblest men, connected with the American press. Thos. Too in the city office are Charles Carl, waging war against all bad pictures and some good, Edwin H. House and William Winter dramatic critics, Nathan Urner and Kate D. Bonnel comparatively new arrivals in the team. Albert D. Richardson, and Junius H. Browne, who can very near bring made oblige Castle Thunder and Salisbury prison and Prof. Swan who we did have been young enough to mention at this article he has been written ten years ago. The Times, in the absence of Henry J. Raymond (who is just finding out how much less influence his Congressional chair has than his editorials), is conducted by Frank Jo Gilmore, a gentleman, who we believe is never remembered to have been young, but is the finest of editors. Juvenile appli ants with manuscripts from the fact that we happen to know of a youngster whose first piece [illegible] paper writing was accepted and printed by Gilmore then city editor of the Tribune. But all the rest of the Times men we believe, are young. Stillman S. Conant, the two Swinton, Edward Seymour, Henry J. Winser, and the rest though we believe we ought to except Morrison. In the Herald, James Gordon Bennett, Junior, is learning his father a trade of newspaper management, but we are unable to say whether or not his youthful pen is yet a competent master of that elegant and Addisonian English wherewith the editorials of the Herald so charm the North American Review. Manton Marble, chief editor of the World is a gentleman whose politics are very bad, but whose editorship is very able. George William Curtis, the editorial writer of Harper's Weekly, is not the youngest of young men, but we trust the years will be many before he shall grow old. The Nation is edited by E. L. Godkin and Wendell Phillips Garrison—both young men. Sweetser of the Round Table, we take to be a rather oldish and mellowed man, judging from the sweet tempered, humane and serene tone with which his column usually refers to his editorial neighbors. As to Bayard Taylor, Richard H. Stoddard, Grant White and Joseph Barker, we are a little doubtful of their ages—but we give them the benefit of the doubt. Edmund C. Stedman, the poet is still in the early morning of his song. Frederick B. Perkins, a born magazine writer, is finding a young man's energies in the Galaxy. Charles D. Gardette, John Allen, Barry Gray, C. D. Shanley and Dr. Stiles, of the Hours at Home Magazine, might all be much older and still young. George W. Bungay has just renewed his youth by taking charge of the Herald of Health. Colonel Dalpino and Private Miles O'Reilly, those interesting twins who edit the Citizen, cannot pretend that their united ages are over thirty five, and George Alfred Townsend, the co editor, is much younger. Eugene Benson, the art critic, was a boy only yesterday. The Anti Slavery Standard begins its new volume with Aaron M. Powell—the youngest man who ever edited it. On the other side of the river is Edward Cary, the indefatigable young editor of the Brooklyn Union. We presume the journals of every American city are equally crowded with young editors. Solomon though it good for a man to bear the yoke in his youth, and nothing to this world is more like bearing a yoke than the editing of a newspaper.

A GRAND JURY IN ALABAMA.—The following are extracts from a late presentment of the Grand Jury of the United States District Court, Middle District of Alabama:

The time having arrived when the Grand Jurors may be discharged, without detriment either to the interest of the Government or the community, we submit our final presentment. We deem it our duty to preface our last official act with an expression of gratitude to God that the Constitution of our fathers is still the law of our land, that peace again blesses us with her sacred presence, that in eleven States legal courts are no longer suspended by military force, and that experience has taught us to appreciate properly republican liberty, to establish which Washington fought—to defend which Jackson defied denunciation—in perpetuating which the lamented Lincoln died.

Difficulty and obstacles have to some extent forced us to do what we could, prevented us from doing what we would. The cases of treason which ordinarily claim the attention of the Grand Jurors during the entire session, embraced (by reason of recent legislation in relation to revenue and currency) an extremely large number of cases. Our first difficulty, therefore, was to make time for the investigation of alleged violations of law outside of this class. In making time we found but little difficulty. We found it more difficult to find witnesses at their homes, and almost impossible to secure witnesses who had ever heard of the location of Government property or of dish mity on the part of the regularly commissioned custodians. In making these assertions we are influenced by no prejudice.

We wish the conclusion in this regard were not reasonable that war has not only tended to increase crime, but what is worse to render men less sensitive in their regard for law and for certain which are a protection to all communities who believe in their sanctity. Obstacles and difficulties, however, have not prevented us from discovering that some who have taken the amnesty oath have forgotten that their pardons were conditioned upon a faithful compliance with its requirements. The evidence upon this point has been general and not specific. For this reason no bills have been found. We are satisfied, however, that it is our duty to advise the administration that they have been pardoned because they have sworn to maintain and defend the Constitution and Government of the United States, and that denunciation of the Government and an opposition to its destruction is a violation of that oath and vitiates pardon. We regret that we have been unable to detect and bring to justice the many persons, who unquestionably are guilty of stealing Government property.

In conclusion we would express to your Honor the hope that the culture of Alabama, always true to the Constitution, Government and law, when not intimidated by ignorance, fanaticism and a licentious press, may so shape the minds of men, so mold popular sentiment that all laws, national and State shall be regarded with a sensitive scrupulousness.

A correspondent writing to the Union from Montgomery Alabama, under date of June 14th says:

Nine of the fifteen jurors signing the above mentioned presentment were Southern men by birth. Ten of the jurors have lived and held slaves in Alabama long before and during the war. Five of the jurors have settled in this State since the surrender and are Northern men.

A Washington dispatch of June 17th, to the New York World says: It has come out that Secretary Seward and on Friday, to a distinguished diplomat, with whom he was talking that all sign of complications was at an end, and that the Peace Conference must sooner or later, prove utterly abortive in all its endeavors to maintain European tranquility. The Secretary also decidedly asserted that in the event of a general bond across the sea the United States would solemnly maintain a most prosperous neutrality, and reap ten fold the commerce she lost during our own insurrection, through the cupidity of England and France.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS

The joint resolution on the representation of the United States in the Paris Exhibition came up in the Senate on the amendment to appropriate $2,000 in coin for the erection of buildings for the display of American articles was agreed to and the resolution passed.

Official information has been received in Washington, that the King of Prussia, under date of May 29th has decreed that in the event of war, merchant vessels belonging to subjects of how the States, shall not be subjected to capture and confiscation by his ships of war, so long as reciprocity be practised by the hostile States.

The new three cent piece is to be of the same size as the three dollar gold coin. Fifty pieces laid in a straight line will make the "metre" or unit of French measure. It will also be so near eight tenths of an inch that no ordinary measurement will detect the difference. Three of these pieces will weigh half an ounce, and be convenient for a postage weight. Specimens have been received at the Treasury Department.

Mr. Higby, from the Committee on Mines and Mining has reported and the House has passed a bill granting the right of way to ditch and canal owners over public lands. It grants to every company or individual who has, in accordance with the laws of the State of California, Oregon and Nevada, or of the United States, constructed, or who may hereafter construct canals, ditches, flumes, &c., for the conveyance of water for mining, mechanical or agricultural purposes, the right of way over the public lands so long as such canals shall be used for such purposes.

The Richmond Whig comes out in a long editorial in opposition to emigration from the Northern States and the introduction of Northern capital. It says: "Alabama within one year of peace begging with 5,000

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

THURSDAY MORNING, JULY 19, 1866

An Old Party with a New Name.

Our city contemporary manifests the utmost anxiety in the effort to show that he is profoundly ignorant of the political situation in the East He doesn't know that changes are taking place to effect the disbandment of the Democratic party and to mould the elements thus set free, into a new organization Never a word has he heard of Democrats endorsing the "National Union Johnson" Convention that is to be held at Philadelphia on the 8th of August. With the most positive emphasis does he insist that he is ignorant of any movement, or any reported movement, on the part of the Democracy to abandon their old organization and take a new name. Since he is so anxious to prove his ignorance, we suppose we shall be compelled to give credit to his many vehement asseverations that he knows nothing at all about the matter But in justice to him, it must be acknowledged that he is not altogether without worthy examples in thus pompously parading his ignorance. He seems to be copying after Shadwell of Dryden's Mac Flecknoe, whose father boasts of him as the most worthy of his sons because he was the only one "Who stood confirmed in his stupidity"

We readily concede, therefore, that our neighbor does not know that the Democratic party is voluntarily disbanding and going into the Johnson movement But we desire to present some of the evidences that its disbandment is nevertheless going on. Not for our neighbor's instruction, but with the desire that his party friends in Oregon may have an opportunity to know the truth

In the same issue of his paper in which he so solemnly assures us that the Democratic party is not breaking up and forming a new organization, we find this dispatch

CINCINNATI, July 14 —The Democratic State Central Committee, (of Ohio) after two days of secret session, have fully decided to join the new party movement, and the Enquirer of this morning contains a call for District conventions to elect delegates to the Philadelphia Convention.

In reply to the assertion that the Philadelphia Convention is not endorsed by, and will not be composed of Democrats, we beg to call attention to the following dispatch, dated Washington, July 6th:

The Democratic Senators and Representatives have published an address, endorsing the call for a National Union Convention, to be held at Philadelphia on the 4th of August.

The following is a Chicago dispatch, dated July 8th. Of course it will not be asserted that the Governor of the Democratic State of South Carolina is not a Democrat:

Gov Orr of South Carolina, has issued an address indorsing the proposed National Union Convention at Philadelphia, and recommending that delegates be sent from South Carolina.

The above are but atoms of the mass of incontestible evidence which shows that the Democrat to party is abandoning its old organization for the purpose of uniting with the office-holders whom Johnson has detached from the regular Union party, in the hope of forming under a new name a political combination that will be able to carry the fall elections. Unpalatable as it may be to the true Confederate Democrats of Oregon to relinquish their old name, they will be compelled to do it. Think of their going into the next campaign carrying banners inscribed "National Union Johnson party!"

We have been at a loss to understand the precise object of the Polk county Copperhead mass meeting—and so have others. The last Review explains the matter. It seems that upon the conclusion of the trial of contested elections, Denham made a speech advising the Judge to be honest in making up his decision, whereupon the attorneys for the Union contestants concluded to rest their cases, thus cutting off Don. Hayden, who was to close the argument for the Copper heads. Don. was loaded and it thought necessary to have him fired off—hence the call for a mass meeting, at which he will "argue the case before the people."

It was a rare and excellent joke that was played off on the Copperheads by the rebels in the Gettysburg campaign, when the aforesaid sympathetic Copperheads professing great solicitude for the Southern Confederacy, had their property seized by their admired friends, receiving Confederate money in return. The best joke that has transpired since then was perpetrated by the Fenians in their late Canadian campaign, when they took the goods of Johnny Bull's subjects and offered to pay for them in Fenian bonds.

THE AMERICAN CONFLICT.—We are indebted to Mr. W. H. Shaw, Agent for Vol. I of this great work of Horace Greeley's. Accompanying it is an excellent Map prepared expressly for the work. The excellencies of this history is beyond all praise, and we need not mention them here. The second volume will be issued in about two months, when Mr. Shaw will be able to supply all who want it (and who doesn't want it?) with the entire work.

Freight is now going through from San Francisco via Portland and Fon d' Orville Lake, to Helena, Montana, at a cost of, 15 cents per pound, and in twenty-five days' time. In about one month a line of stages will be running from the landing on the Columbia river to the Lake. Travelers can now go through from San Francisco to Helena in ten to twelve days, and this time will yet be considerably reduced.

Jeff. Davis is reported by Dr. Craven, his physician, as saying: "Test-oaths are evil continually, and only evil." Terrible "evil" to the country that the disinterested patriot Jeff. Davis is barred by that oath from the United States Senate! Shall "reconstruction" be delayed forever?

O'Meara lately advised Democrats to beware of Noltner. Noltner, in turn, cautions the whole human family to watch O'Meara. Our opinion is, that if they will watch each other, the world will find out as much about both as they will care to have known.

An agricultural meeting was held at Walla Walla on the 9th inst., and a permanent society organized. J. H. Lasater was elected President, and Philip Ritz Secretary.

STATE ITEMS.

The farmers of the middle counties of the Willamette valley, have nearly finished their hay harvest.

Corporal Alonzo Hiller of Co "L," 2d U S Artillery, fell from the flag-staff at Cape Disappointment, on the 13th inst., and was instantly killed

[DESPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN]

DATES TO JULY 17.

Foreign News.

NEW YORK July 17 —Steamer Persire from Havre, July 5th, via Brest 7th inst arrived

Prussia and Italy have refused an armistice. The Italians have crossed the Po. The Austrians have entirely evacuated Lombardy and concentrated on the Mincio Florence journals declare that if Austrian troops evacuate Venetia to march against the Prussians, the Italian army will pursue them merely until a junction is effected between the Italian and Prussian armies They believe in the immediate continuation of the campaign which will be continued until Austrian monarchy is dismembered

The Persire of the 7th, says the cession of Venetia to France is complete and definite, and without any other condition on the part of Austria except as to the withdrawal of arms and munitions of War found in the fortified places within 48 hours The whole of Venetia will be French territory, and it will depend upon the good will of France to keep or part with it The Italian Government will, therefore, treat with the Emperor immediately, every act of hostility against Venetia It being French territory, the French Commissioner is going at once to Venice to assume its government in the name of the Empire

Orders have been issued to the French squadron in the Mediterranean immediately to proceed to Venice and hoist the French flag instead of the Austrian upon all ports on the Venetian coast La Presse says furthermore that Victor Emanuel has not as yet been accorded to the armistice proposed through France He alleges as his reason the desire to consult his ally, the King of Prussia The Augsburg Gazette says Benedek has demanded 50,000 reinforcements. Some paper has a report that the Arch Duke Albert has been appointed successor to Benedek

The fortifications of Vienna were being increased and five hundred guns are now in position

The Prussian army debouching from the electorate of Hesse, has entered Bavaria.

A fight occurred at Weimelgen on the 4th inst between a Bavarian corps and the Prussian army under Follenstein, no particulars.

Official dispatch of the 6th, says some desultory movements to the Bavarian troops have been driven from Hersfield

A corps of the Prussian army has entered the Austrian Tyrol and are moving towards Calals

Garibaldi's headquarters are at Novate. He had about fifty thousand men under his command They are not completely equipped, but are armed and have ammunition. Owing to the appearance of Garibaldi, the war is likely to assume a peculiar character. Some of the Tyrolese priests have roused up a portion of the peasants by representing the Italians as bandits and Garibaldi as anti Christ

Bismarck addressed the following despatch to the Emperor yesterday

AUSTRIAN HEADQUARTERS, July 4 "After a brilliant contest of five hours duration, before Koeniggratz with our centre at Lipa the enemy, favored by rain, succeeded in establishing himself at Chlawetz Our lines being broken we were compelled to recede. The retreat was effected The loss is not known, but is considerable "

BERLIN, July 5—The victory of Sadoa produced great enthusiasm. The army under the Prince Royal, although driven from the field of battle, succeeded, by a great effort, in arriving in time to take part in a direct attack against the right of the Austrians, which got decided the victory

The King decorated the Princes on the field with the order of Military Merit.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18 —In the case of Emil Orlsar vs Irwin McDonnell Judge Field, U S Circuit Court, yesterday, gave decision in favor of defendant This confirms Government in the possession of the property known as Black Point, on which, fortifications have been erected.

Receipts of bullion from all quarters since July 1st, is two million dollars

The opposition steamer S. H. Whipple will commence her trips to Sacramento to-morrow or next day.

The Democratic County Convention met in the Fourth District Court room last evening, and had quite actively time. Some little time was consumed before getting down to business, in admitting delegates Upon the Convention being organized; the nomination for tax collector were first in order, Gen H. S. Cobb receiving the nomination. There were nine candidates for Chief of Police, five ballots were taken without making a choice The Convention then adjourned until 8 o'clock this evening.

The Central American Transit Company's steamer, Moses Taylor, which left San Juan del Sur July 5th, where she connected with the Santiago de Cuba, arrived here to-day

About two o'clock this morning a fire broke out in the rear of the brick building, Nos. 415 and 417, Washington street, opposite the post-office, which entailed a heavy loss on the occupants of the premises White & Bauer, stationers stock, was damaged about $2,500 by water. They were insured for $1,500. The appraisers to-day allowed them $1,200 E. Ayers, occupying store No 417, dealer in stoves and tinware, sustained $1,000 injury; insured for $1,000. No. 415, up stairs, was occupied by John Resch, optician, whose loss is about $1,000, which there is $1,000 insurance The building runs through to Merchant street. The rear of White & Bauer's store was occupied by Haynes & Lawton as a warehouse for storage They had in the building a large quantity of valuable fancy glass ware and clocks, which were badly damaged, their loss is estimated at $10,000, on which there was $7,500 insurance Up stairs; over Haynes & Lawton, was occupied by Barclay & Graves, dealers in petroleum stoves, whose loss is $1,000. They were not insured. A room in the corner of Barclay & Graves' had been used by a party for making chemical experiments, and it is here that the fire is supposed to have originated, and Haynes & Lawton's portion of the building was completely burned out, Ayres' store was pretty badly burned, while White & Bauer's loss was suffered entirely from water. The whole damage by fire and water will probably amount to about $50,000.

The last will and testament of William C. Ward who was shot by Charles Deane, was filed in the Probate Court to-day. He leaves all of his property to his wife.

Attachment suits were commenced in the District Court to-day against J. Warshawski & Brother, amounting in all to about $1,000.

The cargo of the ship Hortlet, burned at sea, was largely insured in the Pacific Insurance Company of this city, and the losses are being promptly paid in gold coin.

As a specimen of expeditious harvesting, it is stated that a gentleman in the interior of this State cut and threshed 5,000 bushels of wheat in three days.

A gentleman in Yolo county in this State, has invented an arrangement for lifting lodged or tangled grain so that it may be harvested without difficulty. The invention consists of a set of fingers, peculiarly arranged, attached and projecting in front of the cutting bar to a clipper. If practicable, it will become quite popular in this State where the grain is so often thrown down by the rain.

FROM VICTORIA

From our Victoria files to the 11th inst, we clip the following:

FROM THE NORTHWEST COAST.

The schooner Nonpareil, Capt. Stephens, with a cargo of codfish, oil, grease and oloobans, arrived from the Northwest Coast of British Columbia yesterday morning. The steamer Otter was sighted off Kitimat, on the 19th June, bound north; a sloop and two schooners, names unknown, were passed in Queen Charlotte Sound. A man who has been prospecting on the coast for fifteen months, came on the Nonpareil and reports having discovered an extensive seam of anthracite coal, which he traced for miles, near Laredia Channel.

SALE OF THE "NANAIMO GAZETTE."

The plant of the Nanaimo Gazette was offered for sale at public auction on Saturday by Mr McGreer, at his rooms. A large crowd of persons attended, and considerable interest was manifested at the somewhat novel proceeding. The auctioneer having stated the terms to be "cash, cash, cash!" at the fall of the hammer, the sale proceeded. The first bidder was Dr. Trimble, who offered $200; Mr. C. W. Wallace bid $400; Dr Trimble, $500, and the final offer was from Mr. Wallace, $600, at which price the hammer fell, notwithstanding the persuasive eloquence of the auctioneer, who assured one newspaper gentleman that the press was "just the thing to print poetry on," and informed the Doctor that the "types could all be made up into pills." It is understood that the plant will be sent back to Nanaimo, and that it will be employed in the publication of a new weekly paper

Poppenburger was charged yesterday before the Police Magistrate, with uttering counterfeit coin, and Harry Kempel was charged with receiving goods under false pretenses The case was remanded for one day, bail being taken for the appearance of the parties.

A man named Daniel Leary alias Collins, was charged yesterday in the Police Court, by officer Farrell, with being a deserter from U. M. S Battle His pleaded guilty without further inquiry and was ordered to be handed over to the naval authorities.

Mr Thomas Parker, late of Nanaimo, has been appointed Mining Engineer to the Phœnix Coal Mining Company, and will leave to-day, with a number of men, to prosecute the work in that quarter

The Alexandra, for New Westminster, yesterday took 30 passengers and 40 tons of freight

The schooner Growler, with Mr Parker and his party of workmen, sailed yesterday for the Phœnix Coal Mine.

FROM BRITISH COLUMBIA

The Columbian furnishes the following items

Placer diggings, supposed to be very rich have been discovered on the Douglas Portage, twenty three miles from Port Douglas town

The Davie company at Cariboo, have decided to allow their colored partners, who were cut off by Judge Begbie's award, to participate in the product of the disputed ground.

The anniversary of the Declaration of Independence was appropriately celebrated at New Westminster on the Fourth

Customs receipts for the week ending Saturday, June 23d, are Duties, $3,801 95; harbor dues $149 01, head money $1 00, tonnage dues $419 50 Inland navigation licenses $60, fees $1 Total $5,112 50 Number of passengers 41

The telegraph steamer Husband, from this port, reached New Westminster on Friday morning and sailed for the North on Saturday

The water in the Fraser was rising very fast, and had reached to within five feet of extreme high water mark. There is no later mining news.

The Fourth was celebrated in grand style at Yale. Salutes were fired morning, noon and night, and, in fact, all day long, while there were horses, foot races, with a variety of games and other amusements, and a free luncheon in Mr. Sutton's saloon and Mr Barry's saloon. In the evening there was a magnificent display of fire works, all of which were heartily participated in by the entire community.

GROUSE CREEK MINES

The Sentinel, of July 2d, contains the following

Since our last visit to Grouse creek, the population has increased from 100 to 240, and claims that were then only being prospected are now yielding large returns All this has happened within a month. Within the last eight days the excitement has increased in consequence of some new developments, and the creek has been staked off for two or three miles.

It is the opinion of miners well unquainted with the country, that the lead will continue straight into Antler creek. This creek supplies a double atum which has long been wanting in the country, namely, The miners are easy of access to those of limited means The Discovery Company are taking out their usual pay, three or four ounces a day to the hand.

There are 11 or 12 companies at work on this creek—some taking out good pay.

WILLIAMS CREEK.

During the past week there has been a very perceptible increase in the yield of gold from the various claims on Williams Creek, which is likely to continue throughout the season. The Aurora Company washed up on Thursday 210 ounces and yesterday 350 ounces. The Davis washed up for the week about 387 ounces. These amounts—being 1085 ounces—are out of the disputed ground and will be divided between the two companies. The Never Sweat Company washed out for the week $8400. They are just getting into pay.

PROGRESS OF THE TELEGRAPH.

The telegraph line is now completed to Fraser Lake, 190 miles, and the chopping party are some way ahead. The work is being pushed on vigorously and it is expected the line will be stretched to Rocher de Boiliers, on the Skeena River, by the first of August. Parties are exploring the Skeena river, and it is hoped the Stickin can be crossed a short distance from the coast Over 250 pack animals are employed transporting wire and supplies About 100 pack animals and the same number of beef cattle leave here to morrow for Fraser Lake.

Letter from Idaho.

MINING MATTERS—MURDERS BY THE INDIANS.

We are permitted to publish the following extract from a letter to a gentleman in this city, dated Ruby City, July 6th. The writer is Mr D. H. Jackson:

On arriving here, I find times much better than I anticipated. All the mills, save one, are now running There is more trouble about the Poorman. Moore & Fogus have pumped a portion of the Pourman, and have a large number of men working day and night on the same. They claim it as a portion of the Empire, I believe. They are at this time arguing a motion for a Receiver, etc.

There is considerable excitement in regard to Indian depredations which are being committed almost in our very midst. Mr. Perry was found dead yesterday, on the mountain, a short distance from here. He had been fastened to the ground by wooden pins, driven through his flesh, his arms and legs being severed from the body, in which horrible situation he was left by the red devils to die.

It is also reported, authentically, that a man named Green was killed by the Indians yesterday morning, on Long Gulch, within a short distance of Silver City. The Shoshes are seen in small squads almost every day, prowling about on the Oro Fino mountain. Yesterday, the 4th, was celebrated in good style here. I question whether our celebration was equalled in many places on this coast.

Remonstrance of property holders for improving Salmon street west of Fifth, ordered published.

Messrs. Lownsdale, Hallock and O'Connor were appointed a committee to obtain a more suitable Council Chamber.

On motion the Council adjourned.

ACCIDENT TO THE STEAMBOAT GRESADE.—Yesterday morning about half past nine o'clock quite an accident occurred to the machinery of the steamboat Gresade. It seems when near Cape Horn, some twelve miles this side of the Cascades, on her way up the Columbia, one of her crank pins broke, which giving the piston rod full play, it was driven with great force through the cylinder head. When this took place several pieces of iron flew in every direction. One of these went so close to the head of one of the deck hands as to cut his hat open. The boat turned about immediately and returned to the city, using one engine, arriving here about half past one o'clock in the afternoon. Capt Ainsworth, President of the O S N. Co. informs us that it will probably be two weeks before the repairs are completed and she takes her place in the line again. He will dispatch the Julia in her place this morning and the Wilson G. Hunt, Friday. The Company is always provided with reserve boats in case of accidents of this kind.

BENEVOLENT.—The other day the unfortunate person who travels around town on two wooden legs stepped into a store to buy a shirt. Upon being told the price he remarked that he thought it was more than he could afford to pay. The merchant said to him that he had put one price for his goods, and could not deviate from the rule; "but," says he, casting a benevolent eye upon his customer, "I will give you a nice pair of socks!" This was too much for our cripple friend, who immediately retreated in good order, and suddenly slackened.

DISAPPOINTED.—Several gentlemen who have unfinished business engagements up country, and were on the Gazelle at the time of her accident yesterday, returned to the city a good deal disappointed. Persons who travel much and calculate "sharp" thus should recollect the proverb in bills of lading, "the dangers by fire and navigation excepted." With commendable dispatch the O S N. Co. will send these on their way rejoicing this morning.

CIRCUIT COURT—SHATTUCK, J.—Edward Mitchell for murder in the second degree, sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor in the State Prison for life. Decree of divorce granted in the cases of George Hughes vs. Caroline Hughes, and Julia Friedman vs. Herman Friedman. Verdict for plaintiff in case of Isaac Bergman vs. James L. Daly, for possession of property.

"LUNA" SOAP."—Our chemistry around the corner has discovered a "soap mine." The dips and angles he does not fully describe, but assures us that there is a veritable piece of soap, in town, from the ledge. We presume he knows from experience whether it is the real thing, although the yarn as well as the specimen, looks "hard."

UNITARIAN PURCHASE.—The Unitarian Society of this city have purchased lots 1 and 2, block 25, of H. W. Corbett, Esq., for two thousand dollars, on which they propose to erect a church edifice. The society expects to have the building ready for occupation during the coming year.

SHIPMENT OF TREASURE.—The P. M. S. S. Sacramento, which sailed from San Francisco to Panama on the 10th, carried away $1,658,542,94. The destination of this large sum was as follows: To New York, $1,156,441,47; England, $298,667,87; Panama, $5,000.

AVOID DANGERS of the sea take the Overland Stage to California, through in six days, the only sure and safe route. Office at Arrigoni's Hotel. jy10

TO SAIL.—The Oriflamme and Montana leave for this port on Saturday next.

The Convict White, the Bigamist.

HIS CAREER SO FAR AS KNOWN—HIS HABITS—SCRIBNER-COQUET.

Joseph White, alias Elarius Josephus White, who was convicted in this place at the last special term of the District Court, of bigamy (denominated in this State "poligamy"), and sentenced to three years penal servitude, is, we should judge, about thirty years of age. He is something above the medium size, rather muscularly built and well proportioned. On close scrutiny, his countenance betrays the absence of that rectitude of purpose that a casual glance at his physiognomy would impress one that he possessed.

In San Francisco, March 30, Joseph White was married to Miss Jane Malone, and immediately started in company with his wife for Mexico. Arriving in that country, he soon abandoned her, leaving her among strangers, in a strange land, and penniless. After every hope of his return to her was dissipated by his continued absence, his injured and heartbroken wife sought an interview with the American Consul at Mazatlan, we believe, and by his aid and that of Dr. Moody of San Francisco, who happened to be sojourning in that country, she was enabled to return by steamer to San Francisco. Her brother, P. H. Malone, hearing the facts, exhausted every means in his power to find out the whereabouts of his truant brother-in-law, but in vain, until in '65, he arrived in Salem where he obtained the first clue to the scene of his operations. He there learned that the man White was, in Nov. '65, joined in wedlock to Mrs. Hill in this county, and was residing at McMinnville reveling in the bliss of his probable fifth marriage. Young Malone, immediately on becoming possessed of the above facts, wrote to San Francisco for the evidence of the relation existing between White and his sister, and upon their arrival, proceeded to procure his arrest and lodgment in jail in Lafayette, which was effected on June the first, where he has lain until the special term of court at which he was convicted for his crimes against law, justice and the good order and well being of society.

White is said to be a superior workman, at Saddle and harness making, and a very industrious, steady and hardworking man. By his exemplary behavior, he had endeared himself in an unusual degree, to all who had formed his acquaintance at McMinnville.

Nothing more is positively known of him than that, as we are informed by Mr. Malone, it transpired subsequently to his marriage in San Francisco, he was a man of very dissolute habits with women of abandoned characters.

During the greater part of the time occupied with his trial, White's two late wives sat together inside the bar of the Court, while the prisoner occupied a seat at the table in front of the stand and to the left of his victims, with his face slightly inclined toward them. More than once during the hearing of the case we observed him looking intently at them as they sat there together awaiting the issue of his arraignment. We persuaded ourself that we could divine the thoughts which crowded and intruded themselves on his mind while scanning the faces of those whom he had so wantonly betrayed.

During the brief absence of the jury which was to decide the prisoner's fate, we imagined we could detect a strife going on in the hearts of those two injured, yet young, comely and intelligent ladies, between hope and fear—one hoping he would, and fearing he would not, be convicted and the other the opposite. Upon the announcement of the verdict, one of the wives burst into tears. We desire our vision closed against a repetition of such a scene.

Surpassing self sacrificing zeal and determination were manifested in young Malone and his mistreated sister in pursuing the prisoner to conviction.

We are told that the prisoner was visited in his cell by both of his late wives subsequently to his conviction and prior to sentence being passed upon him, when he confessed to them that he had other wives, one of whom had two children. They are divorced from him now, while he is engaged in paying the penalty of his many misdeeds.—Lafayette Courier.

The expression "Old Man Eloquent," as now popularly used, originated with Milton, and occurs in his tenth sonnet. It was used by him in allusion to the Grecian orator, Isocrates.

Our Free Schools.

Most of our schools outside of Portland are in operation during the late spring and early summer months. These are the most convenient seasons to spare older children, and the best for smaller ones to go to and from the schools. I find eleven schools in progress eight or ten others have either closed their terms or have been stopped by the high water. The city schools with their ten teachers amount to more than all the others in the county. They may be fairly set down as ten schools numbering seventy pupils each equal to twenty five or thirty outside schools. Enrolled in the twenty schools outside the city, there are, according to a pretty careful census, about 574 pupils, and within the city, 722 pupils—giving about five twelfths to the former and seven twelfths to the latter. Of 2 514 children between the ages of 4 and 20 years in the county only about 1,232, or one half are enrolled in the school Registers. Of this deficiency, 950 are in Portland. The Academies and private schools have nearly 350 of these, leaving 500 unprovided. Two hundred and fifty in the outside districts fail to attend school, or about one third of the whole number. The proportion of boys and girls is very nearly equal.

The School Houses remain much as usual. Some are well built, with good ventilation, light and heat, and comfortable seats. We can still commend those in Districts numbered 1, 2, 3, 4, 15, 17 and 21. Districts number 11 and 20 are now erecting good houses. Some districts may have erected good houses within a year or two, which I have not visited; but the houses in 8 and 10 need better seats and desks. No. 18 ought to build a good house. They have a central and fine location. No. 21 needs one or two additional rooms to meet the wants of their increasing population, and especially to grade their school. The site is very fine. The proprietor of East Portland has given a block, which furnishes ample room for a building with all the Departments of a good school. It would add as much to the desirableness and value of that village, as the present school has done.

District No. 10 has done honor to itself and to the cause of education by the erection of the beautiful school house on Harrison and 5th sts. The site has, however, been found unequal to the wants. The plan is according to the earlier, instead of the later ones for graded schools. It would be very desirable to have in this city a school building like that for the Dekum Grammar school on Bush street, San Francisco. To illustrate its importance, take the school in our new building just named. In the Grammar Department, 115 pupils were enrolled. They assemble in one large room, under the care of Mr Warren, who, indeed, kept them in admirable order; yet classes were frequently sent out to another room, under the care of Miss Lewis to recite. Those classes were in the same book and grade as those who remained and recited to Mr. Warren. For instance, there were in the Third Reader two classes—one of 26 pupils who recited to Miss L, and one of 28 pupils who recited to Mr. Warren.

These classes might have been together had there been a room of the proper size. They were of about the same standing in Geography and Arithmetic. These fifty-four pupils might have been under the same teacher, until prepared to enter another and higher grade. It is so in the Dennan school and in others in San Francisco and Chicago, and other eastern cities.

There were thirty-five in the Fourth Reader who read to Mr. Warren, and thirty-six in the same who read to Miss Tower. Those were of about the same grade in other studies, or they could have been, and thus have occupied another room until fitted for a higher grade, under one teacher, had a suitable room been found. Thus two grades of the Grammar Department might be formed. All the disturbance of passing to and from the room, and all the loss of time, would be saved. The pupils would finish a prescribed course, be examined, and if qualified, would pass to the next room, and so on till all the grades had been completed. Taking Wells' graded system, which is now the Americans standard, as our guide, we should soon have the four grades of the Grammar Department. The present large room of the new building might be divided by sliding doors at little expense, and thus give us two departments. Possibly the two small recitation rooms would be large enough for the third and fourth grades as our population now is, yet they are too small and confined for such permanent use.

We may illustrate the same subject by the Primary School in the same building. Miss Stevens had 237 pupils enrolled who assembled in one large room. The average attendance was 150, who were closely packed. It was impossible to keep them quiet by "Rests," "Singing," "Recesses," or any appliances with their lessons. Miss Kelly took class after class to her recitation room, but this necessarily kept up some confusion.

There were thirty-seven learning A B C, who with a few more advanced pupils might have been happily taught and exercised in a room by themselves under one teacher. These two ladies had seven classes in the primer, comprising about one hundred pupils. These would have filled two rooms, or one of the A B C classes, and one a little more advanced.

There were two classes in the First Reader, comprising twenty-five pupils. These, with some retained at home because of the crowd, might fill a third room and be the third grade.

The were two classes in the second reader, comprising 27 pupils, might occupy a fourth room and constitute a fourth grade, each under a separate teacher. Thus in that school we might have eight grades—four primary and four grammar, in as many rooms, under as many teachers—giving about fifty to each. The studies and exercises would be prescribed for each room. The pupils would be retained in one room until by examination they were found to be prepared for the next, the time for the primaries being six months, and for the grammar scholars, one year.

The Central school needs a similar grading also to be extended to the higher department.

It is obvious that we cannot apply this system to outside schools, which have only from twenty-five to fifty pupils. It could, however, be commenced with marked success in East Portland. Our children would be thus properly distributed, more fully and thoroughly instructed; and be made to see their own steps forward, and they would be stimulated to make progress. The only power of real advancement in our schools is by such a system of grading, and the school building must be adapted to the system.

GEORGE H. ATKINSON,
County School Superintendent.

FROM IDAHO.

We clip the following from the Idaho Union of the 7th July:

MATTERS AT ROCKY BAR.

We learn from Judge Sheffer, who has been spending a few weeks at this place in attendance on the District Court, that nearly all the quartz business of this place was tied up or encumbered by attachments, injunctions and all the other controversies known to litigation before Judge Kelly opened Court. A large docket was disposed of by his honor, and the people near there breathe more freely.

Three of the mills—the Idaho, Widdlingham and Benson mills—will be crushing ore in ten days or two weeks, and the prospects of that camp never looked brighter than now. Rich rock is being taken out at the present time from the Idaho, Confederate and Wide West lodes for the above mills, and work will be continued without further interruption. Rocky Bar will give a good account of itself this season.

UNION MEETING AT CENTREVILLE.

We learn that the Union mass meeting at Centreville, July 6th, was a success. J. M. Kirkpatrick presented the political issues of the day in a masterly manner, and was followed by Judge Waite, who handled the rotten Democracy of Boise county without gloves, and gave a mathematical demonstration of the corruptions and plundering of the last year and a half. The Judge will be a sharp thorn rankling in the side of the unterrified for the next six weeks, and we pledge ourselves for it, that he will force the fighting this time and abandon his line of operation at every cry of "Nigger" raised by the opposition. Judge Gilbert followed Judge Waite, and in his usual cool way entertained the assembly for half an hour in a speech replete with political logic, sound sense and good taste. If the people of Boise county will listen to Judge Gilbert, sincerely, there will be no plundering of public moneys and no relief bills for the next two years if his advice will do to take!

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

The World has the following

One of the prisoners confined in the Territorial Prison, named Andrew Severson, who was sent here last winter, has been pardoned by the Governor.

The road over the Blue Mountains is passable for loaded wagons, having been worked on unpreceedly by a few days ago.

A teamster lost two fine mules and a part of his cargo in crossing the Weiser river on the 20th ult., while attempting to ford the stream.

The Payette river is unusually high, causing the Stage Company much trouble to get over the numerous sloughs which make out from it.

The forty-stamp mill owned by the Waddingham Company has recently been sold in New York to a Company having vast interests in the Yuba and will soon be removed over there. We all anticipate lively times and plenty of money soon. I hope we shall not be disappointed.

Among the distinguished arrivals in our camp of late, I may mention those of Col. John W O'Neil, Mr Wood and W F. Bryant of San Francisco, also that of Wm B Benson of New York. These gentlemen have all been inspecting the rich quarts of the Yuba District and express themselves perfectly delighted. Col O'Neil left immediately for San Francisco for a mill and machinery.

The Statesman says of Boise Valley

The roads in the valley never needed much labor and scarcely need any repair, while in the mountains they are being all the while improved. Farmers are cutting hay, and the grain is almost ready to cut. The spring and summer showers have made a heavy growth of grain and grass, while while canals and numerous ditches are carrying water all over the valley to help mature the crops of grain and roots. Mills are going up, so that we shall this year make much of our own flour. Teams and wagons daily throng the town with all kinds of produce, which brings a fair price, and although business is termed "dull," mechanics are all busy and merchants do not grumble.

IMMIGRATION.—Forty thousand and forty nine foreign immigrants arrived at the port of New York during the month of May last. This is nearly double the arrivals for the corresponding month of 1868. From January 1st to June 30th, the arrivals were nearly 200,000. The estimates at New York, for the year 1866, are 225,000.

COUGHS AND COLDS are often overlooked. A cough is one for any length of time causes irritation of the Lungs or some chronic Throat Disease. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are offered with the full confidence in their efficacy, giving almost invariably sure and immediate relief.

THE PLACE FOR PHOTOGRAPHS.—If you want a First Class PHOTOGRAPH, CARD PICTURE OR AMBROTYPE, or anything in the Picture line go to LILLEWORTH & CARDWELL'S GALLERY, 84 First street. This is the place where all others will not fail to get the worth of your money.

Miscellaneous.

S. T.—1860.—X.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, faintness, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, dizziness after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., desiring to suffer if they will not try the celebrated

PLANTATION BITTERS,

Which are now so commended by the highest medical authorities, and warrant I to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure and must unquestionably excel all other tonics whereon healthy, gentle stimulant is required.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are unrivaled in Exchange of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent rheumatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhœa and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya bark, wintergreen, sassafras, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St Croix rum. For particulars, see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.

Beware of Imposition. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U S Stamp unmutilated over the cork, with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in bulk, is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U S Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We keenly have our eye on several parties re-filling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

"Alone"

I sat thinking in my study—my hopes that long ago
Brought me nought but joy and fear, bringing, now the harvest of woe
Hopes which in me I'm ding my bosom rushing be all my fair
For all false he never loved me and my obedience at is great

I sat thinking in my study, over a bunch of violets I clean—Truth's emblems—gentle violets which had cheered my lonely cell

And each fresh leaf on hair in were yet there' turned grey
Though the violets have faded, and their truth has passed away

Then I thought of them fair spring time, when my placed her hand in mine
And softly said we'd she loved me and, half blushing seemed it true.
Then I thought if that same winter when the earth was drear and cold,
Fit time, to wish to marry one who worshipped for his gold
And each after spring, time passing finds me in my lonely room
Thinking heavily and sadly, over that bunch of faded blooms
And that lock of golden hair which should surely now be grey
For the violets have faded and their truth has passed
away

Mr Nasby Presides at a Church Trial

CONFEDERIT X ROADS,
(Which is in the State uv Kentucky,)
June 9, 1866.

They had a runtion in the church at the Corners yisterday, which bid fair to result in a rondin of the walls uv our Zion, and the tearin down uv the temple we hev reared with so much care and have guarded with so much assiduity. When I say "we," I mean the members thereof, or the church was reorganized senoo the war by returned Confederit soljers and sich Dimokrats as remained at home neutral, but in sameoh as I am the only regiorly ordained Dimokratic parter in these parts I ginerly conduct the services, and hence hev insensibly fell into a habit uv spooking uv the church as "my" church, and feel all the solicitood for its spiritooal and temporal welfare that I sood of I was regorlarly ordained or its pastor, which I expect to be of I fail in gittin that post offis at the Corners wich is now held by a Abolishnist uv the darkest dye, which President Johnson, with a stubbornness I can't account for persistently refooses to remove

The cus was suthin like this.

Deakin Program was charged by Elder Slather wit bevin in broad daylite, with no attempt at concealment, drunk with a nigger, and a freenigger at that, in Bascom's grocery, and to prove the charge Deakin Slather called Deakin Ponni backer.

The Deakin was put onto the stand, and testi fied as follows:

"Was in Bascom's grocery a playin seven up for the drinks with Deakin Slather Had jist beat the Deakin one game and had four on the second, and held high, low and jack, and was modernitly certain of goin out, particiarly as the Deakin didn't beg. Was bavin a little discussion with him—the Deakin insistin that it wuz the best three in five, instead uv the best two in three, or though a man good afford to play five games be twoen drinks. The Joe's preposterous and unheard of, and there ain't no precedent for any sich course We was settlin the dispoot in regler rt ood x stylo—he hold his fingers twisted in my neckhandkerchief and I held a stick uv stove wood suspended over his head. While in this position, we was transfixt with horror at seein Deakin Program enter arm in arm with a nigger, and—

Court—Arm in arm, did you say, Brother Penniboaker?

TheCourt—The scribe will make a minit of this Go on.

Witness—They cum in together, as I said, arm in arm, walked up to the bar and drank together

By the Court—Did they drink together.

Witness—They ondeniably did

By Myself—The Court desires to know what particular fluoid they absorbed.

Witness—Can't say—spose it was Bascom's now whisky—that's all he's got at the Court very well knows.

By Myself—The Sexton will go at once to Bascom's and procoor the identical bottle from which this wretched man, who stands charged with 'thus loworin himself drunk and bring it hither. The Court desires to know for itself if it was really whisky. Es the refreshing fluoid irrigated my parched throat, I wished that triall based upon that bottle could be perpetooed.

I understood the case proved, and tasted Bro. Program what palliation he had to offer. I set before him the enormity uv the crime, and phowgi him that he wux by this course nappin the very foundashun uv the Church and the Dimikratic party. Wat's the use, I ask'd, uv my preachin agin nigger equality, so long as my Deakins practis it? I told him that Ham was cust by Noer, and was condemned to be a servant unto his brethren—that he was an inferior race, that the Dimocrisy wux built upon that idea, and that association with him in any shape that indicated equality, wux either puttin them up to our standard or lowerin ourselves to theirs, in either case the result was fatal. I implored Bro. Program to make a clean breast uv it; confess his sin and humbly receive sich punishment as should be awarded him, and go and sin no more. "Speak up Bro. Program," sez I, paternally and yet severely.

Bro. Program, to my unspeakable relief, for he is the wealthiest member uv the congiegashun, and one we darsn't expel, replied:

That he did drink with the nigger, and what wux more, he wux justified in doin it, for the nigger paid for the whisky.

But shoorly, I remarked, it wasn't necessary to your purpose to come in with the nigger arm in arm, a attitood which implies familiarity of not affeckshun.

The Prisoner—The nigger and I had bin pitchin coppers for drinks, and I, possessin the most skuotnis, won. I took the nigger by the arm, feelin that of I let go uv him he'd dodge me and not pay. They are slippery.

Overjoyed, I clasped him round the neck, and to wunst dismist the charge as unfounded and frivolous.

"My brethren," sez I, "the action of Bro Program is not only justifiable, but is commendable and worthy of imitashun. Ham wux cust by Noer and condemned by him to serve his brethren The nigger is the descendant of Ham and we are the descendant uv the brethren, and of Noer had a clear rite to cuss one uv his sons and sell him out to the balance uv the boys for all time, wo how dod wood on the nigger, for it is clear that he wus made to labor for us and minister to our wants. So it wus, my brethren, until a Apo who had power disforfeted and doliterod him out our hand. Wat shel we do? Wat we cannot do by force we must do by finanseirin. We can't any longer compel the nigger to furnish us the means, and therefore in order to fulfill the scripter, we are justified in accomplishing by our superior skill was we used to do with whips and clorgs. Ther was no confusion uv equality—no degradashun, but contrariwise, the spektacle uv Bro. Program's marchin into Bascom's with that nigger was a sublime spektakle and one well calcated to cheer the heart of a troo Dimmokrat. He had vanquished him in an encounter where skill was required, thus demonstratin the superiority uv the Anglo Saxon mind—he led him a captive and made uv him a spoil.

"Wood, o wood that we hi bead a nigger to play with for drinks. The case is dismissed, the costs to be paid by the complainant"

The walls uv our Zion is stronger than ever. This trial, ov it resulted, is a now and strong abutment—a tall and strong tower

A CURIOUS RELIC.—More than fifty years ago, when Com Porter commanded the Essex, we visiting the Marquesas Islands, in the Pacific, he had a sharp skirmish with some of the natives, during which a fan belonging to a chief was pierced by a bullet. In the eyes of the natives it immediately became sacred, and was preserved and handed down from chief to chief in regular succession This sacred fan, it has now been determined to present to President Johnson, and we learn from a Honolulu newspaper that it has reached the Sandwich Islands on its way to its destination. It is described as venerable in appearance, and has unquestionably been long in safe keeping among the people of the Marquesas It is suggested that the chiefs may have been prompted to send this relic in compliment for the presents sent out by President Lincoln as a reward for rescuing an American whaleman.—Portland Transcript

THE INDIAN COUNCIL AT FORT LARAMIE.—The correspondent of the Fort Kearny Herald, who is attending the Fort Laramie Council, says:

"The treaty presents and annuity goods will reach here in a few days, and then it is expected the articles of the treaty will be read, and the Chiefs who want their hands to share the goods, will affix their (x) marks opposite their names The old mountaineers express freely their belief that the treaty will not be observed by the Indians longer than to receive the great quantity of valuable presents and consume them, then when the whites will have been lulled into unsuspecting quiet, another sudden outbreak will be made."

How Jeff Davis was put in Irons

Well! said Davis, as they entered, slightly raising his head

"I have an ample amount debts to perform, sir," said Captain Titlow and he spoke the words blood smith took the shackles from his assistant

Davis stepped instantly from his recumbent attitude, a flush passing over his face for a moment and then his countenance growing livid and rigid as death

He gasped for breath, clutching his throat with the thin fingers of his right hand and then recovering himself slowly with his wonted figure to rose up to its full height now appearing to swell with indignation, and then to shrink with terror. as he glanced from the Captain's face to the shackles—he said slowly and with a laboring obtuse:

"My God! you cannot have been sent to iron me"

"Such are my orders, sir," replied the officer, beckoning the blacksmith to approach who stepped forward, unlocking the padlock and preparing the fetters to do their office These fetters were of heavy iron, probably five eighths of an inch in thickness, and connected together with a chain of like weight. I believe they are now in the possession of Major General Miles, and will form an interesting relic.

"This is too monstrous," groaned the prisoner, glaring hurriedly round the room, as if for some weapon or means of self destruction. "I demand, Captain, that you let me see the commanding officer Can he pretend that such shackles are required to secure the safe custody of a weak old man, so guarded and in such a fort as this?"

"It could serve no purpose," replied Captain Titlow; "his orders are from Washington, as mine are from him."

"But he can telegraph," interposed Davis, eagerly, "there must be some mistake No such outrage as you threaten me with is on record in the history of nations. Beg him to telegraph, and delay until he answers"

"My orders are peremptory," said the officer, "and admit of no delay For your own sake, let me advise you to submit with patience As a soldier Davis, you know I must execute orders"

"Those are not orders for a soldier," shouted the prisoner, losing all control of himself "They are orders for a jailer—for a hangman, which no soldier wearing a sword should accept! I tell you the world will ring with this disgrace. The war is over; the South is conquered I have no longer any country but America, and it is for the honor of America, as for my own honor and life, that I plead against this degradation. Kill me! kill me!" he cried passionately, throwing his arms wide open and exposing his breast, "rather than inflict on me, and on my people through me, this insult worse than death."

"Do your duty, blacksmith," said the officer, walking toward the ombrasure as if not caring to witness the performance "It only gives increased pain on all sides to protract the interview."

At these words the blacksmith advanced with the shackles, and seeing that the prisoner had one foot upon the chair near the bedside, his right hand resting upon the back of it, the brawny mechanic made an attempt to slip one of the shackles over the ankle so raised, but, as if with the vehemence and strength which frenzy can impart, even to the weakest mortals, Davis suddenly sank of his assailant and hurled him half way across the room.

On this Captain Titlow turned, and seeing that Davis had hooked against the wall for further resistance, began to remonstrate, pointing out in brief, clear language, that this course was madness, and that orders must be enforced at any cost. "Why compel me," said he, "to add further indignity of personal violence to the necessity of your being ironed?

"I am a prisoner of war," fiercely retorted Davis, "I have been a soldier in the armies of America and know how to die. Only kill me, and by my last breath shall be a blessing on your head But while I have life and strength to resist, for myself and my people, this thing shall not be done"

Hereupon Captain Titlow called in a Sergeant and a file of soldiers from the next room, and the Sergeant advanced to seize the prisoner. Instantly Davis flew at him, seized his musket and attempted to wrench it from his grasp.

Of course such a scene could have but one issue. There was a short passionate scuffle. In a moment Davis was flung upon his bed, and before his tour powerful assailants removed their hands from him, the Blacksmith and his assistant had done their work—one securing the rivet on the right ankle, and the other turned the key in the padlock on the left.

This done, Davis lay for a moment as if in a stupor. Then slowly raising and turning round, he dropped his shackled feet to the floor. The harsh clank of the striking chain seemed first to have recalled him to his situation, and dropping his face into his hands he burst into a passionate flood of sobbing, looking to and fro, and muttering at brief intervals: "Oh, the shame! the shame!"

On the 21th, the Doctor found his patient feverish and emaciated, suffering from great irritation of mind and body, and a chronic neuralgia which had destroyed the sight of his right eye. Too weak to bear his shackles, they were taken off in four or five days by the advice of his physician In June he was permitted to walk on the ramparts for an hour every day, though too ill at first to stand more than half an hour; and in August while suffering from erysipelas and a carbuncle, was removed to more comfortable quarters at Carroll Hall. His prison fare, if not choice enough for one in his sensitive ill health, was improved by supplies from the Doctor's table. Under previous regulations he was not allowed to use a knife and fork, and all his letters were inspected by the Government. From June to November, which closes the volume, we hear the complaints of deteriorating health, and his frequent protest against the rigor and indignity of his treatment as the head of six millions of people, and a prisoner refused impartial trial. We must believe that if, as appears, Davis has been a shattered invalid during the whole of his incarceration, imprisonment is the worst punishment that can be meted out to him.

OHIO UNION STATE CONVENTION—RESOLUTIONS OF THE RIGHT KIND.—A Columbus, Ohio, dispatch of the 20th ult., says:

"The State Convention met to-day, and nominated for Secretary of State, Wm Henry Smith, of Hamilton, Judge of Supreme Court, Joshua Scott, of Butler; Board of Public Works, John M. Basore. The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved That the Union party of Ohio, having sustained the General Government during four years of successful war against the united efforts of rebels South and partisans North, now demand that peace be established on such stable foundation that rebellion and secession will never again endanger our national existence.

Resolved, That this Convention fully endorses the amendment to the Constitution proposed by Congress to the Legislatures of States, as a liberal, wise and patriotic adjustment, and the Union party of Ohio pledge for it their united and hearty support

Resolved, That the nation owes the heroic men of our army and navy, a debt of lasting gratitude for their patriotic services in defense of the Constitution and Union, and we urge upon Congress the duty of equitable bounties, and while we cherish with tender affection the memories of fallen braves, we pledge to their widows and orphans the nations care and protection

NEW STEAMER.—The New York correspondent of the Sacramento Union writes:

A new steamer of 2,700 tons burden is shortly to be placed upon the route via Nicaragua, which, it is believed, will excel any vessel now engaged in the South American trade in point of speed and comfort. This vessel is named the Nicaragua, and is now at the South Brooklyn Iron Work receiving her machinery The Nicaragua would have been placed on the line some time ago, were it not that the machinery originally intended for her was condemned, it having been designed by E N Dickerson and supplied with his celebrated "cut off" The engines were surveyed by a number of prominent engineers before being placed on board and pronounced to be totally unfit for use, and were consequently not accepted by the company, but new ones of the most approved designs and powerful description, were ordered to be constructed at the South Brooklyn Iron Works When the Nicaragua is placed on the route, the Central American Transit Company will have five vessels, two of which, the Moses Taylor and the Ameriqe, form a connection on the other side with the vessels sailing from New York.

A very foolish man proposes to walk across Niagara river at the falls this summer on a small wire, carrying his wife and son on his back He also proposes to walk across as the American eagle, and is now having a large leathern cage, which will be filled with feathers, and otherwise manipulated so as to resemble a live eagle of monstrous proportions This is to fit closely about his body, and on walking the wire, he will hoist himself by flapping the artificial wings. At the same time a rope is to be suspended by him below the wire, to which his son, a boy eight years old, will cling, and go through with various athletic performances as his father advances across the Falls.

Incidents of the Battle-Field

Many who served in the late war, have been witnesses of a variety of curious bullet freaks. We can name an officer of the 17th Maine, who was struck by a Minnie ball near the wit hpipe, but the missile instead of passing directly through the neck, described a curve beneath the skin, and emerged from the back of the neck The officer hurried that the ball might have been sent from a rebel gun We know a soldier who was the subject of sport among his fellows, on account of a habit of keeping his mouth open As a climax to their jests, in the first engagement he was shot through one cheek, the ball first entering his open mouth" At the battle of the Wilderness we picked up a pocket bible through which a bullet had passed on its way to the heart In Union soldier The soldier now sleeps an quet the scarred trees We have been personally cognizant of many instances where soldiers' lives have been saved by their cartridge boxes, haversacks, canteens, belts and belt plates, against which bullets not at full speed, would flatten out We remember a soldier who came near losing an eye by the spray of a bullet, which spattered, upon striking against a rock, where he "entrenched," At Spotsylvania we witnessed the terrible spectacle of two Union soldiers being shot down by the carelessness of a comrade, whose unsteady nerves caused him to aim without much reference to the position of the enemy The recklessness which frequently possesses men while in battle is well illustrated by a soldier, who, loading and firing with all his might while his fellows were falling or sunk him, exclaimed "Boys, ain't this h—ll, ain't this lively!" A certain German took a different view, on another occasion. After a series of hardships and reverses, and while the battle was still in hot progress, he belched forth "God damn Christopher Columbus, he discovered America!" During one of the engagements of the Wilderness the writer of these lines felt a sudden stroke of heat on the top of his head. At the time he did not give much thought to the matter, and not until the close of a two hour conflict, did he know that a bullet had passed through his hat, (which, by the way, was a shocking bad one,) just grazing his hair Another half inch to his stature would have been the means of ending his days We have since firmly believed that there are some advantages in being "little" The battle field is not without its humors, as scores of returned veterans will testify. At Fredericksburg, Gen Howard was leading his division up a street commanded by the enemy's artillery Shell after shell came howling through the air, and the troops instinctively dodged as the missiles of death seemed to almost darken the sun The intrepid Howard cheered the men as he led them, and in connection with other things said, "Don't dodge, men, the danger from a shell is over as soon as you hear the sound." These words were hardly out of the General's mouth, before a shrapnel exploded directly in his front, scattering its fragments in every direction, and so far disconcerting the General as to cause him momentarily to lay flat upon his horse The troops observed the General's sudden personal maneuver, and, as if the occasion was too good to be lost, returned, "Gen'l, dodge, Gen'ral, the danger from a shell is over as soon as you hear the sound!" This little incident provoked much merriment among officers and men, even though the streets were strewed with the dead and dying. The General smiled with the rest; his men ever advanced against the terrible heights behind the city. During the assault against the rebels at Cool Harbor, Col. McKean endeavored to drive some "stragglers" in to the ranks, by saying, "This is no time to skulk, men!" A weak-kneed fellow retorted, while shielding himself from the shower of bullets, by saying "I should think it was just the time to skulk, Colonel." The brave Colonel fell before the close of the day, but it is almost unnecessary to say that the "skulk" who disobeyed his orders was not killed during the war.—Hallowell Gazette.
